TWILIGHT NIPPERS THIS WEEK

CONTACT ME

Week 5 of the season and already lots happening at North Cronulla Nippers. Thank you so much to all those who have been helping out, on the beach, in the club, behind the BBQ and in the water, you are doing a great job and are so appreciated by all members, kids, parents and siblings. Keep up the good work and don't forget there is always room for one more helper!

Lots on again this weekend, so please make sure that you are proficient in your pool and ocean swims and that you have filled in any paperwork that needs completing to ensure that you are entered into any carnivals that you may want to attend.

Could I also please ask that if you take a good photo during a competition or nippers that you send it in to me, along with their name, and any position that they came. Just entering or reaching a final is a huge achievement - so please don't feel they have to be medal winners only.

This week is TWILIGHT NIPPERS so come along Saturday evening, and stay for a BBQ and a beer :)

Thanks Helen (helen@kettlewell.org)

DID YOU KNOW...

The tentacles of a bluebottle can be up to 10 meters!

The bluebottle jellyfish is NOT a jellyfish at all. It is not even a single organism. It is, in fact, a colony of 4 minute zooids. These 4 zooids are highly specialized and perform different functions. They cannot live independently, as they can only serve one single function, but together, as a colony of 4 zooids, they can function as well as a unified organism.
